Title: Spontaneous prematurity in fetuses with congenital diaphragmatic hernia: A retrospective cohort study about prenatal predictive factors.

Version: 1  Date: 10 Feb 2017

Reviewer: Tim Jancelewicz

Reviewer's report:

Improved.

The authors have significantly enhanced the manuscript. Stylistically, would recommend going through and carefully editing multiple minor grammatical problems and being careful of decimal points (e.g. Line 116, 137, 147, 192). I would also add in the discussion that other prenatal predictors of severity such as o/e fetal lung volume by fetal MRI may add even more accuracy to prematurity prediction.

Good work.
