Title: Task shifting in active management of the third stage of labor: a systematic review

Version: 1 Date: 06 Mar 2017

Reviewer: Sohinee Bhattacharya

Reviewer’s report:

The authors have taken much of the reviewers' suggestions on board and revised the manuscript accordingly or explained where this was not possible. Only one revision remains outstanding: As the authors agreed with both reviewers that task shifting in AMTSL should really be restricted to administration of oxytocics and have revised the background of the paper accordingly - the title of the paper needs to be revised so as not to give the wrong impression to the reader.
