Title: A Rare Case of Spontaneous Hepatic Rupture in a Pregnant Woman

Version: 2 Date: 15 Dec 2017

Reviewer: BISWAS Arijit

Reviewer's report:

Interesting case presentation. While there are numerous case reports of spontaneous hepatic capsular rupture, particularly as a rare complication of HELLP syndrome, this case report can be considered for publication. It would be useful reference to clinicians managing such a case in future. However, the article needs some corrections of the English language (too many sentences to list).
