Reviewer's report:

"REVISION ASSESSMENT FROM THE ACADEMIC PEER REVIEWER:

Has the author addressed your concerns sufficiently for you to now recommend the work as a technically sound contribution?

No

Reviewer comments: The authors have thoroughly responded to every point raised in the initial review. Their responses were well-considered and strengthened my opinion of the work considerably. Unfortunately, they made only one of the suggested changes in the revised manuscript. If they will please make small changes to the manuscript to clarify these issues - even using small sections of the text they wrote for the response - this will avoid having other readers come away with the same questions. For the future, reviewers expect either an acceptance of the suggestion (and quoted text from the revised manuscript is also a valued courtesy) or a rebuttal describing why they should NOT change the text. In this case, the authors clarified the points to the reviewer but not in the manuscript itself. "
