Title: Clinical Observations on Chemotherapy Curable Malignancies: Unique Genetic Events, Frozen Development and Enduring Apoptotic Potential

Version: 3 Date: 17 December 2014

Reviewer: Michele Purrello

Reviewer’s report:

I confirm that this debate paper presents an interesting and worth to test hypothesis. The paper has been substantially improved respect to its original version and now it could be published, appropriately contributing to the evolution of our knowledge on neoplastic processes and their therapy. Careful editorial revision should eliminate a few (annoying .. ) typographical errors.

Level of interest: An article of importance in its field

Quality of written English: Needs some language corrections before being published
