Title: Diffuse Cavernous Hemangioma of the skull misdiagnosed as skull metastasis in breast cancer patient: one case report and literature review

Version: 2 Date: 30 Dec 2018

Reviewer: Isaac Chen

Reviewer's report:

The authors addressed the majority of my prior comments in the revised manuscript. The syntax and grammar have been improved. However, several syntax/grammatical errors remain, and the manuscript does not read smoothly.

Additional comments:

- Some statement that long-term radiographic imaging would be helpful to further assess the efficacy of radiation therapy for this diagnosis should be included.

- It is still not quite clear from the manuscript (Discussion) whether the authors are attributing elevations in tumor markers to the PICH of the skull or the potential recurrent breast cancer.

- Figure 5 legend should state the timing of the scan (i.e., that it was performed at the end of radiation therapy)

Are the methods appropriate and well described?
If not, please specify what is required in your comments to the authors.

Yes

Does the work include the necessary controls?
If not, please specify which controls are required in your comments to the authors.

Unable to assess

Are the conclusions drawn adequately supported by the data shown?
If not, please explain in your comments to the authors.

Yes
Are you able to assess any statistics in the manuscript or would you recommend an additional statistical review?
If an additional statistical review is recommended, please specify what aspects require further assessment in your comments to the editors.
