Fang et al reported an interesting paper about EGFR exon 20 mutations in NSCLC patients.

The authors report a comparison of their Chinese series vs. Caucasian population. The more interesting data is represented by the results of activity of Osimertinib in 6 patients with Exon 20 mutations.

This topic is relevant, considering that osimertinib represents a new standard of care in first-line EGFR mutated NSCLC patients and the absence of active drugs in case of EGFR exon 20 mutations.

Are the methods appropriate and well described?
If not, please specify what is required in your comments to the authors.

Yes

Does the work include the necessary controls?
If not, please specify which controls are required in your comments to the authors.

Yes

Are the conclusions drawn adequately supported by the data shown?
If not, please explain in your comments to the authors.

Yes
Are you able to assess any statistics in the manuscript or would you recommend an additional statistical review?
If an additional statistical review is recommended, please specify what aspects require further assessment in your comments to the editors.
