Title: Acute uveal effusion during phacoemulsification with preoperative central serous chorioretinopathy: a case report

Version: 0 Date: 20 Mar 2017

Reviewer: Rongfeng Liao

Reviewer's report:

This is a solid study, with sound data. It is a precious case as it might enlighten us in clinical practice. However, I have several issues that should be addressed:

1. What about postoperative intraocular pressure (IOP) fluctuation? Did the IOP change postoperatively? It might be better to describe more about it.

2. How to perform anterior vitrectomy? The surgery procedure should be described more.

3. Fundus Fluorescein Angiography (FFA) results better to be provided. The image of FFA might help strengthen your conclusion.

Overall, it is a useful case report.

Are the methods appropriate and well described?
If not, please specify what is required in your comments to the authors.

Yes

Does the work include the necessary controls?
