Title: Subretinal echinococcosis: a case report

Version: 0 Date: 19 Sep 2016

Reviewer: Ester Carreño

Reviewer's report:

Overall an interesting case, with good supportive imaging.

Few minor changes are suggested:

1) Try to follow SUN classification nomenclature when possible. Avoid grade for keratic precipitates, but add description (such as granulomatous, non-granulomatous…).

2) Posterior synechias is probably a better term than "his pupil was partially adhered to the lens".

3) CT scan and MRI images will benefit of arrows pointing the pathological findings.

4) Some acronyms need to be explained such as "LR×AP×SI" in Figure 2.

5) English needs to be reviewed (alternating present and past tenses).
