Reviewer’s report

Title: Bilateral acute angle-closure glaucoma following Tramadol subcutaneous administration

Version: 0 Date: 27 Sep 2017

Reviewer: Enrico Martini

Reviewer’s report:

I think your case report may have some interest as Tramadol is a commonly used drugs and this an unlikely side effect and may be difficult to relax to Tramadol administration.

There is a minor english fault at pag 5 line 26: "...blurred of vision..." should be either "blurred vision" or "blurring of vision"

It would be really interesting if you could add an image after iridotomy, either gonioscopy or AS-OCT to document the complete angle opening.
