Title: Fundus changes in type III membranoproliferative glomerulonephritis: a case report

Version: 0 Date: 02 Jan 2018

Reviewer: Ursula Schmidt-Erfurth

Reviewer's report:

The authors present an interesting case with MPGN type III which merits publication. However, the description and interpretation of clinical findings is not entirely appropriate.

Due to errors in grammar and style, English language re-editing is recommended.

The term "fibrin extraction" (abstract and manuscript), is inappropriate (descriptive terminology should be used).

Please revise fluorescein angiography / OCT terminology and interpretation e.g. page 6: refraction/hyperre refractive substances… did you mean reflective?

The description of fluorescein leakage is unclear.

Please define what kind of ERG was used (full field ERG?).

Discussion, page 8, please reword the comparison with AMD drusen.

Discuss anti-VEGF for treatment of CNV.
