Title: Theme trends and knowledge structure on choroidal neovascularization: a quantitative and co-word analysis

Version: 1 Date: 03 Dec 2017

Reviewer: Taichi Hikichi

Reviewer's report:

In this revised manuscript, the authors concluded that outer retinal tabulation may demonstrate the inactivity of choroidal neovascularization. One of the reason is that they found a statistically significant connection between outer retinal tubulation (ORT) development and the presence of subretinal hyperreflective material (SHRM) at treatment initiation.

Please add the data about the relation between the number of injection and the presence of SHRM, before the publication of this manuscript.
