Title: Does Anterior Chamber-Associated Immune Deviation (ACAID) play a role in posterior lamellar keratoplasty? Case Report of a splenectomized patient

Version: 0 Date: 09 Apr 2019

Reviewer: Giulio Ferrari

Reviewer's report:

The authors provide an interesting report which suggests that intact spleen is not necessary for DMEK graft acceptance.

This case report is interesting, I have some suggestions that the authors could elaborate in discussion:

1. The first two years steroids where used, so the follow up where a rejection can reasonably occur seems to be of 2 years. I would mention in discussion that additional follow up will confirm that rejection is not occurring, also considering that rejection after DMEK is much rarer than after PK.
