Title: Myocardial Oedema in an 8-year-old Chinese Boy with Idiopathic Systemic Capillary Leak Syndrome

Version: 3 Date: 01 Jan 2019

Reviewer: Steve Leung

Reviewer's report:

Overall, manuscript is improved. Only concern is the conclusion "We suggest early performance of echocardiogram on patients with ISCLS to identify myocardial involvement and immediate transfer to a specialized centre with ECMO support if available when there is evidence of myocardial oedema."

Instead of "immediate transfer", the data is not strong enough to conclude as such. Rather "consider transfer" would be more appropriate: "We suggest early performance of echocardiogram on patients with ISCLS to identify myocardial involvement and consider transfer to a specialized centre with ECMO support if available when there is evidence of myocardial oedema."
