Title: Brief Reasons for Living inventory: A psychometric investigation

Version: 1 Date: 08 Sep 2017

Reviewer's report:

I appreciate the authors having addressed most of the issues I raised, but found that they did not address one of them. In my comment #2, I asked them to conduct the analysis separately for the community and clinical samples, which I don't see in the revised manuscript. Their response to the comment ("Since we conducted a CFA in the revised manuscript this problem not longer applies.") indicates that they misunderstood what I asked them to do.

A minor point. The authors need to report correlations among the factors as well as factor loadings in Figures 1 and 2.
