Reviewer's report:

Thank you for submitting this article.

Regarding your search strategy, you indicate that 8 articles were excluded because these were reviews. Did you explore the references of these review articles? I think it would be advisable to include this information as you could probably find additional articles following your inclusion criteria by doing so.

Furthermore, why you decided not to include 28 articles in which isoflavones were reported as supplements? it could be interesting to see the findings of these 28 articles incorporated in the article somewhere regardless of exclusion or inclusion criteria. It will also justify why you didn't include these in your main review.

Best of luck!
