Title: Risk Factors of Morbidity among Children under Age Five in Ethiopia

Version: 3 Date: 11 Jun 2019

Reviewer: Solomon Abera

Reviewer's report:

Thanks to the authors. They have addressed most of comments and incorporated in the manuscript. Saying this, I still have comments on the method section for the authors' consideration.

In my view, the subsection "data source" does not actually reflect the content of the method, rather it only indicates where the data were retrieved. Additionally, the authors mentioned that "a stratified two stage sampling procedure was used", however, the second stage sampling was not described here. The authors have added citation here to show the source of the data and sampling procedure. In my view readers should not be referred to other source to understand the methodology used to conduct the research. It would be more scientific to explicitly describe the procedure used here so that readers would easily understand the methodology without much trouble to refer other sources.
