Reviewer’s report

Title: Income Inequality and Mass Shootings in the United States

Version: 0 Date: 14 Nov 2018

Reviewer: Macarena Chepo

Reviewer’s report:

The authors develop the theme in a clear and novel way, which helps readers of different disciplines understand it. Congratulations! In addition, the research developed is of great importance for public health.

I suggest describing a little more about the differences or changes in government restrictions on the use of weapons.

I think it is also necessary to develop more how these findings can be used by policy makers or for the academy.
