Title: Utilization of cervical cancer screening among migrants and non-migrants in Germany: Results from a large-scale population survey

Version: 0 Date: 13 Sep 2019

Reviewer: Showket Hussain

Reviewer's report:

The present study conducted a large-scale population survey to examine the difference in utilization of cervical cancer screening by migrants and non-migrants in Germany through the Andersen Model of Health Services Use. The manuscript is well-written and clear. However, there are some comments/suggestions to be taken care of.

Comments:

Abstract:

There are a lot of grammatical and sentence formation mistakes in abstract. It should be properly reframed.

Introduction

Insert a comma-"By means of multivariable analyses, all of these…socioeconomic factors"

Please reframe it to "In addition, qualitative studies have revealed that migrants encounter different types of barriers in the health care system, such as poor language proficiency…"

Methods:

Please mention about the value of significance taken into consideration.

Results:

The authors should have mentioned the P-value to actually test whether the results observed are significant or not.
Tables:

Please check the spelling of eastern in Table 1.

In table 1 under "Type of Residential area", analysis in terms of urban and rural stratification will work? The authors have divided into many parts. Please clarify.

What about the significance of results in Table 2? Please mention the P-value.
