Title: Thyroid Rosai-Dorfman disease with infiltration of IgG4-bearing plasma cells associated with multiple small pulmonary cysts

Version: 1 Date: 15 Mar 2019

Reviewer: E Radzikowska

Reviewer's report:

I think that in this case lung disease is not sufficiently documented, but other aspects of this rare case are very good presented.

Birt-Hogg-Dube syndrome has a wide clinical presentation, and over than 140 mutations of foliculin gene have been identified. There are about 30% of patients with BHDS have only lung cystic lesions, so the statement, that lack of kidney and/or skin lesions excludes the BHDS is not truth.
