Reviewer’s report

Title: What makes patients aware of their artificial knee joint?

Version: 0 Date: 25 Sep 2017

Reviewer: Luke Perraton

Reviewer's report:

Some minor changes have been made to the manuscript as requested and detailed rationale for the study methodology has been provided in the responses; however, few significant changes have been made in response to previous comments. For example, requested changes included discussion of limitations of the study and areas for future research and these comments have not been addressed in the revised version of the paper. Pertinent comments from the other reviewers also appear to have not been addressed.
