Title: Evaluation of D2-plus radical resection for gastric cancer with pyloric invasion

Version: 0 Date: 09 Jun 2019

Reviewer's report:

It is certainly an interesting article but I believe that few things need to be revised even if the study looks well performed.

First of all, I found in the whole article both some english grammar mistakes that must be corrected and, also, some sentences that need to be rephrased and rewritten because, to me, some concepts are difficult to understand.

Secondly, I personally suggest to better describe the standard D2 linfadenectomy because some lymphnodes are missing. Need to be completed rows from 68 to 72.

Finally, the authors should add either the references to all figures and some citations where missing.

Are the methods appropriate and well described?
