I am still uncertain about the patient selection and classification of disease. As per the previous comments CSOM makes up a broad spectrum of conditions. Where have the authors got their definition of AOM <14 days and CSOM > 14 days. Can this be referenced? Or perhaps state that locally this is your accepted definition (which as you have highlighted will be a limitation of the study as its applicability will reduce)?

I understand however that the focus is on the antimicrobial side which I am happy with so if the above can be addressed I would be happy for publication.
