Title: Development and psychometric testing of a theory-based tool to measure self-care in diabetes patients: the Self-Care of Diabetes Inventory

Version: 1 Date: 30 Aug 2017

Reviewer's report:

I checked the authors' response to my previous comments and suggestions as well as the revised text.

The authors have done an excellent job in responding and making the necessary changes. The additional text to the Discussion especially about the using of- or not using of the total SCODI score, is useful and the argument they use is reasonable.

I am satisfied with the revision and I have no further comment.
