Reviewer's report:

The manuscript is well written, but there are a few things to consider to be able to understand the main conclusions.

1) Methods section does not state the number of the patients and the controls.
2) The "combination of genes" is not a regular term to omit the description in the methods. Only when one looks at the table, one can deduce what the authors mean by this.
3) There are a lot of long tables, that can be made shorter, and clearer statements in the results can be associated with the tables.

Are the methods appropriate and well described?
If not, please specify what is required in your comments to the authors.

Yes

Does the work include the necessary controls?
If not, please specify which controls are required in your comments to the authors.
