Overall, it's a good article but few corrections are needed which are as follows:

1. Title should be revised as "Frequency of foot ulcers in people with type 2 diabetes, presenting to specialist diabetes clinic at a tertiary care hospital, Lahore, Pakistan".

2. Please give the latest IDF estimates for the frequency of diabetes in first paragraph of introduction.

3. In second paragraph of introduction update the frequency of DFU.

4. Usually, sentence does not start with a number it needs to be rephrased.

5. In 3rd paragraph of introduction reference is missing in front of "There is high prevalence of PAD in diabetics"

6. Update the current prevalence of diabetes in Pakistan. Reference number 14 in last paragraph of introduction needs to be revised.

7. Merge the heading of objective in last paragraph of introduction.

8. In methodology, reference is missing under Body Height & Weight heading.

9. Insignificant parameters should remove from final estimated regression model.

10. Organize the result section based on the sequence of Tables.

11. In the third paragraph of discussion word previous studies requires more references. At least more than 1
12. The discussion should be focused on main findings of the study with references available from local, regional and international published data.

13. In 1st paragraph of discussion it is mentioned that type 2 diabetes was more common in females as compared to males which is supported by reference 14, but no such result was found in reference 14, please check.

14. Written English of the manuscript needs improvement. There are typing errors and grammatical mistakes throughout the manuscript.

15. It would be more appropriate to use recent references (not more than 10 years old).
