Reviewer’s report

Title: Obesity, Diabetes and the Risk of Colorectal Adenoma and Cancer

Reviewer's report:

In general terms the manuscript has improved and in its current form it better highlight the relevance of this study. I have only some comments:

*In the methods section: It could be useful describing what the term "Positive Hx of drug" refers to. What type of drug?

*Table 1 is still quite long. I suggest eliminating the variable "education" and summarize the "medical history of any disease" (i.e. those variables with frequency lesser than 1%). I suggest adding in the footnote that presented results are reported as n (%).

*The data content in Table 5 could be described in text form. This table is unnecessary.

*There is a mistake in the Figure 5: "cancer" appears twice

*In the discussion section I suggest to avoid the term "cancerous patients". I suggest changing it to "patients with cancer".
