Title: Socioeconomic disparities in orthodontic treatment outcomes and expenditure on orthodontics in England's state-funded National Health Service: A retrospective observational study

Version: 0 Date: 13 May 2017

Reviewer: Maha El Tantawi

Reviewer’s report:

The study offers useful information and although the actual values apply to the UK/ parts of it, the questions raised and methods have wider applications in other settings where the data would be available. It has smooth flow and is quite interesting to read.

The Discussion comprehensively covered several limitations and satisfactorily addressed concerns readers might have. There was no comparison, however, to other studies so it is difficult to know how the study findings compare to previous work addressing the same/ similar issues. Adding these comparisons helps the reader place the findings in the proper context.
