Reviewer's report:
This interesting and informative article is very necessary for Saudi as well as global dentistry community. It is correctly designed and well written. It was difficult to find any errors or design flaws, but there are some minor objections. They are listed below:

In the lines 102 and 103 authors wrote: “The study targeted physicians that were working in the ER department..." and later in the line 131 they claim: „74.6% of the participants were between 20-39 years old." This is rather confusing because the persons at the age of 20 - 23 are usually still students. This should be explained or changed.

Line 124 „Different times were selected in order to encounter as many physicians as possible of different shifts and rotations." Is this relevant for the study? If yes it should be explained why, and if not it should be removed.

Are the methods appropriate and well described?
