Thank you for your responses and revisions.

Please correct "adenitis" throughout the manuscript and tables to "adenoiditis".

Please revise the conclusion section: at its current format, it includes discussion points and is not based on your results.

Please further specify the method of school randomization.

The paper still needs to be revised for English and grammar.

"TMJ pain on waking up" showed the highest odds among the studied variables, yet was superficially addressed in the discussion section.
