Title: Adaptation and validation of the PEDSQLTM Oral Health Scale for toddlers in Chilean Population

Reviewer's report:

The authors have addressed my previous concerns. I have only one further comment. In their proposed revision to the text the authors refer to the instrument not having been tested to discriminate between all (oral) pathologies experienced by the target group, and they cite malocclusion and traumatic dental injuries as examples. While the overall statement is true and is fine to be included in the manuscript text, so called "malocclusion" is not a pathology, rather it is simply a variation on the norm and is a clinician defined phenomenon. I suggest using the word "condition" rather than pathology or to remove "malocclusion" as an example, which in any case is not a good example to use in the age group evaluated in this study.
