Title: Correlation between clinical parameters of crown and gingival morphology of anterior teeth and periodontal biotypes

Version: 2 Date: 11 Jan 2020

Reviewer's report:

I suggest a major revision.

The unbalanced sex composition of the study sample makes it difficult to generalize the results to males. I suggest either recruiting additional male subjects (as this should be easy considering the inclusion/exclusion criteria) or conducting a separate set of exploratory analyses using female subject data only. If the authors choose the latter, and found the results being the same, then the unbalanced sex composition can be accepted. If the results became different, that means the current results and conclusions are subject to confound by sex and then sample size must be increased to include more males.
