Reviewer's report:

Some minor observations/recommendations are set out below:

Was there any restriction of the year of publication?

Please check the numbers of articles in the PRISMA flow chart. After double screening of 56 full text papers, 47 full text papers were excluded and 8 articles were identified as eligible for inclusion. Then, the number should be 9 articles instead of 8 articles.

It may be important to mention the lack of standardized measures for IPV across studies, which would be important to assess comparability across studies.
