Title: Reasons for Delay in Seeking Treatment among Women with Obstetric Fistula in Tanzania: A qualitative study

Version: 1 Date: 18 Apr 2019

Reviewer: Ademola Kojeku

Reviewer's report:

I believe this paper can be better written. The scale of the problem described suggests that the sample size can improve. The methodology can be strengthened by describing questions asked by the interviewer better. A comparative cohort could also strengthen the argument of societal practices influencing this outcome. These can come in a follow-up publication. The current form needs re-writing. All the best
