My main objections have been met and I agree with comments from other reviewers. At this point I leave comments to the other reviewers to their objections. I have two last comments.

1. To use any progestin/progesterone medication would really be unacceptable in this study as it definitely affects BBT during the time the woman takes the progestin/progesterone. Would exclude that woman.

2. 24/7 sound a bit unscientific to me. Please revise. Suggest around the clock or without interruption.

Are the methods appropriate and well described?
