The manuscript entitled "Free large sized intra-abdominal endometrioma in a postmenopausal woman: A case report" presents a case of a large sized endometrioma with the diagnostic process and surgical treatment. The topic of this Manuscript is interesting and falls within the scope of BMC Women's Health.

The abstract is well written, the Discussion and Conclusion section are accurate while Background section needs some improvements.

The study could be improved by these suggested comments:

-Background: Endometriosis is a chronic disease and the most frequent localization are ovaries. However, unusual localizations are not rare such as umbilical endometriosis or Villar's nodule. Authors should report this option briefly referring to PMID: 32473979.
-Background: Endometriosis could seriously impact on the patient's quality of life. Authors should underline this critical aspect, briefly referring to PMID: 31755667 and PMID: 31726815
