Reviewer's report:

This is a worthy and relevant paper that fits nicely with BMC Women's Health remit. There are a few minor language clarity issues that need addressing before publication - these include1) lines 31-32 - sentence does not make sense, I think there may be a word missing after 'unmarried'2) line 112 - term CEB needs defining - what does 'children ever born' actually incorporate? Still Borns for example?3) line 343 - echos rather than 'reechoes' would read betterLooking at this over a decade is really useful and perhaps a little inclusion as to why this is relevant might add some contextual information that is relevant and interesting related to the justification of this work.
