Major Compulsory Revisions
1. Acupuncture stimulation is not in detail. Whether was there an interval time when the next acupoint was acupunctured after the prior acupoint?
2. In the study 6 points were acupunctured on the same animal, including heterotopic and homotopic points. Whether would these acupoints interfere with each other?
3. Please explain in detail how you defined the static state.
4. In the references, there was only two references published in nearly five years.
5. The name of acupuncture points should be written in the right format.
6. The heterotopic and homotopic points should be described clearly in the abstract.
