Title: Patient benefit of dog-assisted interventions in health care: A systematic review

Version: 0 Date: 05 May 2017

Reviewer: Ebrahim Abbasi

Reviewer’s report:

The authors have attempted to determine” Patient benefit of dog-assisted interventions in health care: A systematic review ". This article indicates new data that can help to reveal the involved mechanism. As I searched in literature there is no similar report in this topic, therefore it has novelty and I can recommend it for publication after necessary correction and modification. There are some issues that need to be addressed if it is being considered for publication.
