Reviewer's report:

The authors revised the manuscript. However, I requested that if the authors did not collected the data on intake of multivitamin in study subjects, at least they mention it in the limitations of the study. In their revision, the authors mention "the use of multivitamin/multiminerals throughout the study was not assessed". However, I mean at the beginning of study. Since subjects with dietary supplement intake (before the start of study) may have different response compared to subjects without any supplement intake
