Title: The mediating role of resilience in the relationship between stress and life satisfaction among Chinese medical students: a cross-sectional study

Version: 2 Date: 2 January 2015

Reviewer: Liuhua Ying

Reviewer’s report:

The authors have adequately responded to my (Reviewer 1) comments. Specifically, they added studies to the literature review, strengthened the background of the study, exemplified the three scales, added a sobel test to estimated the mediation effect, clarified the implication of the study for psychological service providers. The manuscript is much improved as a result of these changes. I don't have any more questions about this manuscript.
