Title: Attitudes Towards Psychiatry Amongst Medical and Nursing Students in Singapore

Version: 0 Date: 07 Jan 2018

Reviewer: Hirokazu Tachikawa

Reviewer's report:

This study investigated attitudes towards psychiatry amongst medical and nursing students in Singapore by using an online web survey. Author concluded that the present psychiatry curriculum could be improved to nurture the development of empathetic attitudes towards people with mental illness. De-stigmatization strategies could also be integrated into other curricula besides psychiatry. The manuscript is well written. I think it would be improved if author described ways of de-stigmatization strategies more specifically in discussion.
