Reviewer’s report

Title: Fostering patient-centredness by following patients outside the clinical setting: an interview study

Version: 1 Date: 03 Dec 2019

Reviewer: Claire Condron

Reviewer's report:

Overall, the article is a well-written piece of work that speaks to a topic of significant interest in the literature now and as such will be of interest to readers. The authors address all of the reviewer's comments with additions to the manuscript. The discussion has been rewritten to include a paragraph, which does address the reviewer's comments; however, this paragraph needs to be proof read, as it contains poor English in parts.

Pg 7 line 12  non-clinical
Pg7 line 14 too emotionally involved
Pg 7 line 16 these types
Pg 7 line 24 "feeling of support and safety" what does this mean?? what is the evidence for this feeling
