Title: Implicit Bias in Healthcare Professionals: A Systematic Review

Version: 0 Date: 20 Dec 2016

Reviewer: Mary Neal

Reviewer's report:

This is an extremely well-written article, and I am happy to recommend publication without revision. The study on which it is based has clearly been designed and undertaken with great methodological care, and the methodology is very clearly described for the reader. The authors locate the study very clearly within the existing literature and demonstrate the distinctive contribution of their research while being clear about the limits of the study, and making clear recommendations for further research. An extremely considered and meticulous piece, and a laudable contribution to a fascinating and important area of study.
