Reviewer’s report

Title: Healthcare Information Systems: The Cognitive Challenge

Version: 1 Date: 16 Jul 2017

Reviewer: Felicity Callard

Reviewer’s report:

Thank you for the clear summary of the changes you have made -- and for taking on board how you could make it much more obvious readers what you were trying to do (and what you were not doing) in this article. The structure as a whole is more cogently laid out, and the introduction is now much smoother. The role of the case studies has been clarified, and you have argued convincingly for the approach you endorse (in comparison with related cognitive and/or design strategies).

I am happy to accept for publication. (There are a couple of typographical errors to pick up in the copy-editing -- e.g. sometimes Greenhalgh is missing the final 'h' of her name.
