Title: Construction and Application of Service Quality Evaluation System in the Preclinical Research on Cardiovascular Implant Device

Version: 0 Date: 09 Dec 2018

Reviewer: Georgy Kopanitsa

Reviewer's report:

The Authors used the Fuzzy Analytical Hierarchy Process method to construct a service quality evaluation indicator system, which will provide a method for the service demanders to select ideal suppliers, and for the service suppliers to improve their service quality.

The study is well structured and clearly written. The statistical processing of the results are correct and the conclusions that the authors made are based on the valid data.

I recommend to accept the paper after a small improvement of the language. There are several typos and word misuses.
