Reviewer’s report

Title: Level of awareness of Saudi medical students of the internet-based health-related information seeking and developing to support health services

Version: 2 Date: 23 May 2020

Reviewer's report:

My concerns about the definition of eHealth, and the title remain. There are many aspects of eHealth that do not involve the Internet and several of these are not addressed in the survey. As such, the title is misleading.

I feel for the authors. They used what they considered to be a validated survey tool, carefully analysed their results and reached conclusions about the need to educate the students in the use of informatics tools. The paper now at least acknowledges that they failed to take telemedicine into account, but there are other aspects of eHealth that were also overlooked. The authors' use of a very limited definition of eHealth is a problem that can't be resolved after the fact.
