Title: 'I try not to bother the residents too much' - the use of capillary blood glucose measurements in nursing homes

Version: 0 Date: 13 Sep 2015

Reviewer: Mohamad Al-Tannir

Reviewer's report:

1- Title: Not directly related to the topic. Suggested to change into a specific title such as "Capillary blood glucose measurement in nursing home diabetics: a qualitative health-professionals focus group study.

2- Methods: Not elaborated. Sample size, inclusion and exclusion criteria, time frame is not well explained. A table should list the variables/questions to be asked.

3- Controls: Not mentioned how do the health-professionals rate the traditional method of blood glucose measurement versus the capillary blood glucose.

4- Discussion is mixed with the conclusion: The arguments with/against your findings should be at the discussion section. Conclusion should include key message finding from your research and few recommendations.

Are the methods appropriate and well described?
