Major Compulsory Revisions
Saying: «Both standardized and personal coordination are needed» it's not a strong innovation. Mitzbeg say that since decades. So, authors must going further. For that, I suggest this:

1. Some concepts may be more detailed. For instance, Professional communication is a very strong concept, but use in this paper in a too general way.
2. I'm OK with the inductive strategy for analysis, but authors may clarify the conceptual framework, more "operationalized" for the analysis work.
3. I suggest to the author to develop the 270 section, in the way to explain how both types of coordination can be articulated with more efficiency.
4. In the same way, adjustment strategies may be develop.
