Reviewer's report:

I appreciate your research focus and the question you are seeking to answer. I also appreciate the mixed methods approach. That said, the analysis presented needs to be tightened and the purpose more clearly articulated. The qualitative analyses are somewhat unfocused. The quantitative analysis is basically descriptive and poorly presented. Also I was unsure what the authors expected as action after having read the paper. I do believe these things can be and should be addressed in a revision of the manuscript. Also the manuscript should be read through and edited by a native English speaker since the article would be published in an English language journal.
